THIRTIETH SUNDAY, YEAR C

26TH OCTOBER, 2025

THEME: God Sees What Is in Us

If we try our best to live decently as good Christians who serve God well, would we still desire a scolding from God? The message of today says yes. What is really our attitude before God? Do we think God should be grateful to us for all the things we have done for him? Do we look down on others who fail, who are weak and turn wrong? Are we aware that they also do good things? He sees what is good in them and he loves them for it. We pray that Jesus may give us an attitude of honesty with ourselves, with God and with others.

MEDITATE: Everybody knows today's Gospel. It is a simple story. Two people went to the temple. One was a Pharisee, the other a tax collector.

ACT: Spend some time in prayer as the tax collector did in Jesus' parable.

SPIRITUAL COMMUNION

My Jesus, I believe that you are present in this Holy Sacrament of the altar. I love you above all things and I passionately desire to receive you into my soul. Since I cannot now receive you sacramentally, come spiritually into my soul so that I may unite myself wholly to you now and forever. Amen.

[based on a prayer of St Alphonsus Liguori]
